VERSE 1:

CHARACTER 1

You grab your lunch tray and there you stand,
and you scan each face for a place to land.
I'll be waving my hand, and if you don't see,
I'll come runnin'.

CHARACTER 2

You hope the choosing is over quick.
When they pick the teams, you're the last one picked.
Now everyone can predict
I'm gonna pick you.

BOTH

When I am near, let's make it clear:
there's never ever anything that you should fear.
When trouble's near, I'll bring you cheer.
and when you need i'll kick you in the rear.

CHARACTER 1

And when i'm elected president
I'll share that present with you.
We stick together

BOTH

Like tiny hands and elmer's glue.

CHARACTER 1

When you're sick and you're home in bed with a runny nose and an achy head.
I'll be sure you're not dead. I'll show you I care with chocolate ice cream.

CHARACTER 2

You're at your locker to grab a pen,
then a bully kid tries to shove you in.
It won't happen again
when I am with you.

BOTH

When I am here, let's make it clear:
there's never ever anything that you should fear.
When trouble's near, I'll bring you cheer.
And when you need i'll kick you in the rear.

CHARACTER 1

And when I accept my Oscar
they can slice that sucker in two.
We stick together like tiny hands and elmer's glue.

BOTH

When I am here, let's make it clear:
there's never ever anything that you should fear.
When trouble's near, I'll bring you cheer.
And when you need i'll kick you in the rear.
And when i win the lottery i'll share my fortune with you...We stick together

CHARACTER 2

Like Shakespeare and his "Much ado."

CHARACTER 1

Like medication and the flu.

CHARACTER 2

Like Harvard and a high iq.

CHARACTER 1

Like doggie doo sticks on a shoe.

BOTH

Like tiny hands and elmer's glue.
